Despatches to the Evening Times

Additional Foreign News—All Hopes of Peace are Abandoned—War Inevitable—The whole Prussian Army Mobilized—Italy about to attack Austria—Later from South America—Further Particulars of the Bombardment of Callao.

NEW YORK, May 22

AUSTRIA, PRUSSIA AND ITALY

A Vienna telegram of the 9th says—

All hopes of the preservation of peace are abandoned here, and war is believed to be inevitable Its outbreak is considered imminent The goods and traffic on the Northern Railway will soon be stopped

Orders have been issued at Berlin for the mobilization of troops, so that the whole Prussian army is now mobilized

The town of Erfurt had been ordered to be placed in a state of defence

Count Bismarck had been serenaded upon his escape from assassination

The Berlin correspondent of the Times says that within three weeks the Prussian army will have been raised to a total of 415,000 men, 240,000 of whom are ready to take the field Prussia having entered upon earnest preparations, the decision cannot long remain problematical

Austria and Italy are not rich enough to keep their men long unemployed The Prussian exchequer being as yet tolerably filled will allow the King to hold a little longer than his opponents.

Advices from Venetia say—

It is expected the Austrian army in Venetia will be completely equipped and augmented to the full war strength by the 11th of May This strength is expected to reach 200,000 men, which is considered greatly in excess of what is required

A Vienna despatch of the 10th says—

Austria is reported to have decided upon coercing the Holstein Diet should Prussia still reject their proposals for settlement

The municipality of Prague has received orders to prepare quarters for Austrian troops, who are to arrive immediately

Vienna papers publish a telegram from Florence, alleging that the Italian attack on Venice will take place upon the 21st of May

Napoleon's significant speech at Auxerre, on the treaties of 1815, continues to excite attention It is said to have created great uneasiness at Vienna

The official Austrian Presse recommends the speech as being directed against Prussia, and states that the present relations of France and Austria is in no way of a nature to afford ground for alarm, but on the contrary are satisfactory, as is proved by recent communications from Paris

The Constitutionel defends the Emperor's remarks as merely a call for the reform of the treaties of 1815 It stated that the French Minister of War has ordered the purchase of 10 000 horses

The Prussian ambassador on the 9th had an audience with Napoleon at 10 a m—an unusually early hour It was construed as indicating a great emergency

NEW YORK, May 22

Special despatches from Washington state that the Senate military committee have increased the total pay and emoluments in the bill creating the grade of General to nearly $20,000

The Treasury and Sub-Treasury contain over $80,000,000 in specie

NEW YORK, May 22.

Two firemen, named Daniel Waters and —— Welch are supposed to have perished in the fire last night Another, named John Denin, was badly burned, but escaped with his life

Grace Chapel, the Manhattan Gas Company's works, Irving Hall, the dwellings on Fifteenth Street and the Hippotheron, were saved

The wardrobe belonging to the stockholders of the Academy, valued at $100 000 was destroyed, Mr. Grau's, valued at $25 000 also a great part of Moretzek's value unknown. Palmer & Co, publishers of the opera, lost $10,000

NEW YORK, May 22

Some details of the fight at Callao are published. The Peruvians had nine batteries mounted with 32 pounder guns and 300 pounder Armstrong and 450-pounder Blakely rifles, besides the iron-clads Leo and Victoria, and three wooden gunboats In less than half an hour the Villa de Madrid had her motive power deranged and was towed out of the action The Berenguk moved out 20 minutes later, having received a rifle shot near the water line, leaking badly, and obliged to careen to prevent sinking

At half-past 2 the Bianca and Resolucion retired to repair injuries, but soon returned to their positions, and with the rest of fleet, except the two first named, continued the fight to the end of the action

Soon after the commencement of the battle, a Peruvian battery containing two 300 pounder Armstrong guns was blown up, destroying the guns and killing and wounding every one in the vicinity, and in another battery a 300-pounder Armstrong was dismounted at the first fire With this exception the fire of the Peruvian batteries was heavy and well directed, and every moment became more fatal and destructive

Soon after 5 o'clock the Spaniards retired, the batteries firing until they were out of danger The last gun was fired by the monitor Victoria The Peruvians are said to have lost 60 killed and 170 wounded The shot disabling the steamship Villa de Madrid killed 17 and wounded 21, and it was thought therefrom that the total Spanish loss far exceeded that of the Peruvians The Villa de Madrid had eight shot holes in her sides. The Bianca was struck 40 times, and the others nearly as many. The Numancia, being an iron-clad, came of very well But one 8-inch rifle projectile pierced her 5½ inch plating, and went partly through the wood backing. She was fought so as to receive the fire at an angle, hence the plating caused the shot to glance.

The officers of the Vanderbilt think that the Spanish are in no condition to renew the attack They had only solid shot, so the city was little injured

EASTPORT, May 22

Two boats, loaded with supposed Fenians, effected a landing on Indian Island last night, and several rounds of shot were exchanged

The British war steamer steamed from Campobello for the scat of action, when the Fenians retreated

NEW YORK, May 22

The Commercial says—

The news of the panic in London has produced a sympathetic effect here, though as yet to no serious extent

The large purchases of gold from the sub-Treasury for shipment, by withdrawing suddenly a large amount of currency from the banks, has produced a marked derangement in the loan market This morning there is a very extensive changing of loans

Early in the morning, parties whose loans had been called in were hurrying around the street and freely offering 7 per cent, at which rate they mostly found accommodation

At 1 p m money was offered somewhat freely at 7 per cent, and the indications appear that the market will close easier than it opened

Yesterday the Sub Treasury sold $10 000,000 in gold, but this morning suspended selling It is understood a combination had been formed for buying up $25 000,000 more should the government have continued its sales

Should an attempt be made to run up the premium to an extreme rate the government still stands with thirty five or forty millions of its own available coin to check the attempt

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY for June comes well freighted as usual with valuable and interesting matter The following are the principal articles — Quicksands, In the Hemlocks, Last Days of Walter Savage Landor—III, The Dead Ship of Harpswell, Doctor Johns—XVII, Tied to a Rope, Giotto's Tower, Passages from Hawthorne's Note Books—VI, The Mountain; The Chimney Corner for 1866—VI, A Pioneer Editor, Griffith Gaunt, or, Jealousy—VII, Bad Symptoms, Reviews and Literary Notices

HARPER'S MONTHLY for June we receive from Bartlett's, with the following among other items on its bill of fare —Personal Recollections of the War The Reese River Country—(both illustrated)—, Chattanooga, Are there are other Inhabited Worlds, Gladstone as Leader of the Commons The Live American Henry Bath, the American Traveller, Armadale (continued), The Fall of Richmond, Monthly Record Editor's Drawer, &c, &c

BEADLE'S MONTHLY for June has the following, among other interesting articles—Colorado (illustrated) The Dead Letter—Part II, chapters 11 and 12, (illustrated), Our Entrance into Richmond, Personal Recollections of Mrs Caroline Lee Hentz, The Story of a Night Assassins and their Work—The Gunpowder Plot Farmer Hope's Trouble

Dr Livingstone made wonderful discoveries in the Southern interior of Africa He found the country as rich and beautiful as our Western country and as healthy He gives a pleasing picture of society there—The women are of light complexion, intelligent, quick, neatly dressed, and with soft and small hands and feet Justice is well administered in the main, but there, as elsewhere, polygamy is the rule and the women approve of it and like it The Zambesi river is to Southern Africa what the Mississippi is to North America, and the Amazon to South America On this stream the most striking object of natural scenery is Victoria Falls, which is said to surpass Niagara The river is a mile wide, and falls into a cleft or rift in the rocks, to the depth of from 300 to 400 feet Big trees were also found, the largest of which were eighty four feet in circumference, almost rivalling in size those of California though the estimated age of them is much less

WEDNESDAY, MAY 23, 1866.

THE LATE FOREIGN NEWS is sufficiently startling all round—what with the tremendous financial cricis precipitated in England, and threatening Austria and Prussia, and the imminence of a general war in Europe, the nations of Europe may be upon the verge of mighty revolutionary events which will make history as rapidly as our own terrible struggle during the eventful years just passed. The war cloud now over the old dynasties may pass away for a season, although it now appears altogether improbable that peace can be maintained; but it will surely come in a few years,—if not from one cause, then from another. The people, as well as the governments, are all uneasy, and the "balance" is constantly trembling. A feather's weight may move it any moment,—and when a general war does come, the popular voice will be heard for popular rights, not only in Italy, but throughout the continent. The great battle in America for freedom over slavery—for Republicanism over Despotism—was not won for nothing in its influence on the world.

The foreign despatches of yesterday morning were so voluminous, not being concluded until near five o'clock in the morning, that we were unable to publish the whole. We now append the important or interesting items omitted:

Napoleon had made a significant speech, in which he said he detested the treaty of 1815. The Paris Bourse accepted it as a signal for war. A severe panic set in, and rentes fell almost 2 per cent. There was a corresponding depression in London, but the decline in funds was less severe. There was a slight improvement on the 8th.

Orders have been issued placing the whole Austrian army on a war footing. Great military activity was being manifested in Italy. Volunteers were being received into the army for one year's service.

A royal decree had been issued ordering the formation of a volunteer corps of twenty battalions under the command of Garibaldi.

The late Austrian despatch to Prussia regards negotiations for a simultaneous disarmament as exhausted, and contends that Austria, although having no offensive designs whatever against Prussia or Italy, must maintain defensive measures against Italy.

Warlike preparations are reported from the middle German States. There were some slight rumors of a pacific adjustment, but they were not very hopeful.

An attempt was made to assassinate Count Bismarck as he was walking in Berlin. The would-be-assassin fired several shots from a revolver, but Bismarck received only a slight contusion. The assassin was arrested, but committed suicide in prison.

The London Times' correspondent says that Mr. Motley, the American Minister at Vienna had announced that he would leave the country if another body of volunteers was despatched to Mexico. A detachment of 1000 men was to have embarked at Trieste May 10th, but there is no announcement of their doings so.

Bombay, May 1st. Exchange 2s 1½d. Freights 65s. Cotton shipments for the fortnight, 90,000 bales.

Hong Kong, April 15th. Tea unchanged. Exchange is 7½d.

THE STEADMAN AND FULLERTON "INVESTIGATION." The copperhead papers are shouting with glee over the telegraphic reports sent back, as to the condition of things south, the alleged corruptions of the officers of the Freedman's Bureau, &c., by Generals Steadman and Fullerton, sent out by the President. It is not for us to say that these reports are intentionally made favorable to the rebels and hostile to the Bureau, but we do have authority from a private friend of integrity and truth, at Wilmington, N. C., that when in that vicinity the "investigations" of that commission were made almost or quite exclusively among the rebels of the towns where they stopped. It has been seen that their movements were very rapid, and they could have had no time for proper scrutiny of reports made to them by persons hostile to Congress and to the Bureau. Meantime we can wait until the Congressional Committee sent after them reports.

GREAT FIRE IN NEW YORK. The following came too late for yesterday's paper:

NEW YORK, May 21—12:50 A. M.

The Academy of Music, and two other buildings contiguous, are now burning illuminating the whole city.

May 22—1:15 A. M. Academy of Music and several of the adjoining buildings are entirely burned. It is thought that the Academy caught fire from some of the paraphernalia attached to the opera.

Second Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 22—2:30 A. M.

The Academy of Music is a mass of ruins together with the Medical University, a large stone building adjoining on 14th St., also the piano forte establishment, corner of 3d and 15th Streets. The fire extended across 3d Avenue to Worcester & Co.'s large piano ware house, which was mainly destroyed. The Lutheran Church on 15th Street was also consumed. Several other large buildings contiguous to the Academy were burned.

It is impossible to determine at this hour the loss, but it will probably reach from three to four million.

One steam fire engine was burned, but no lives as yet are reported lost.

The rebel organ in this city continues to worry itself about the Republican nomination for member of Congress in this district. It cannot, of course, avoid lying, as falsehood is the normal condition of its conductors. No name will ever be presented in the Republican Convention "of the Cowan and Doolittle school" of politics. If Mr. Peters and Mr. Rice shall both be candidates for the nomination, our friends well know that they are both firm and unflinching in Republican principles, and that both of them sustain Congress in its views upon Reconstruction. The insinuation of The Democrat that the former sympathizes with the Cowan and Doolittle class of "Union" men is as false as anything it has uttered since its friends fired on Fort Sumter.

—One hundred young men are preparing for the Catholic priesthood in the diocese of Philadelphia.

Correspondence of the Daily Whig.

BOSTON, May 21, 1866.

The case of John M. Way vs. a number of the citizens of Roxbury, which has excited much public interest, has been on trial for a few days past, in the Supreme Judicial Court now sitting here for Suffolk county, Judge Chapman presiding. A verdict was rendered for the Plff. this morning for one hundred dollars damage. The case grew out of the position taken by Mr. Way in the spring of 1865, in regard to public affairs. This position was annoying to his neighbors, who hearing that he had said "he was glad of the assassination of the President", and wished "the whole Cabinet had been killed", waited on Mr. Way at his house and compelled him to put out the old flag and make a loyal speech to the crowd. The case was ably argued by Mr. Sweetser of Lowell, for Way, and by Judge Thomas of this city, for Def'ts. With Judge Thomas was J. Wilder May, Esq., son-in-law of your excellent Marshal, Mr. Farnham.—Among other matters given to the jury by the Judge in his charge, was the following: "Evidence of disloyal sentiments uttered by Mr. Way, was excluded, and is not to be considered. It would have been a reproach to the law if it had not been so. The mob had no right to try him."

I met this morning your popular Representative in Congress, Mr. Rice, of whose course, marked as it has been by close attention to the public business and constant and earnest efforts to promote the interests and welfare of his constituents, cannot be too highly approved. He is on his return from a flying visit to Maine, and in company with your Land Agent, Mr. Clark, is spending his short stay here in furtherance of the interests of your great work—(the European and North American Railway)—at the State House.

Many distinguished ministers are here attending the Baptist anniversaries, among whom none are more so than Rev. Martin B. Anderson, President of Rochester University. Many years ago he followed the business of a ship carpenter in Bath, in your State. At an age when most men are settled in life, he started out and obtained an education, graduating at Waterville in 1838, and has worked his way up till he stands among the ablest men in this country.

Yours &c.

The railroad running from St. Louis to Springfield was sold on the 13th inst. to Gen. John C. Fremont for $1,300,000. Seventy-seven miles of this road have already been completed. Its owners claim that it will be worth $12,000,000 when completed. Four or five millions will be necessary to complete it. It passes through the heart of the agricultural and mineral lands of the State of Missouri, and the celebrated Granby lead mines in Newton county are a part of its "realty". This line is intended to be a part of the route provided for in the Southern Pacific Railroad in the Senate bill reported by Senator Brown of Missouri. Fremont obligates himself to finish it within four years of the date of purchase.

Stonewall Jackson was one of the greatest villains of the civil war, and it is matter of regret that he did not die on a gibbet. He caused oceans of blood to be shed, and, as he had received no provocation to engage in rebellion, he was as much a murderer as was Wilkes Booth, and like Wilkes Booth a bullet probably saved him from the rope. He had better fortune than he deserved; and now we are required to consider him as "illustrious!" and to show our esteem for a wholesale assassin by rewarding his surviving associates by giving them offices, because they exhibited "genius and courage" in work that was meant to accomplish our annihilation! If this is not running magnanimity into the ground, what is it?—[Boston Traveller.

An Effectual Worm Medicine.

BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS,

OR WORM LOZENGES. Much sickness, undoubtedly, with children and adults, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. The "VERMIFUGE COMFITS," although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child.—This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be safe and sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children.

CHILDREN HAVING WORMS require immediate attention, as neglect of the trouble often causes prolonged sickness.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS IN CHILDREN are often overlooked. Worms in the stomach and bowels cause irritation, which can be removed only by the use of a sure remedy. The combination of ingredients used in making Brown's "Vermifuge Comfits" is such as to give the best possible effect with safety.

No Housekeeper can afford to do without one of these Broilers, as its cost will be saved by its use each and every month, in the article of butter alone, to say nothing of the superior quality and flavor of the meat.

For sale by WOOD BISHOP & CO., No's 1, 2 and 3 Broad St.; A. NOYES & CO., No's 21 and 23 Central Street.

DR. E. COURTARET'S DISINFECTING FLUIDS. Secured by Letters Patent in the United States and France. Prepared solely by the New York Disinfecting Company, at their Laboratory, Nos. 298, 300, and 302 Henry Street, N. Y. Office, 42 Cedar Street.

This Company, organized on a permanent basis, with DR. Courtaret, the celebrated French Chemist, in charge of its Laboratory, is prepared to furnish its DISINFECTING FLUIDS for sick rooms, nurseries, urinals, water closets, privies, cesspools, sewers, gutters, ships, railroads, hospitals, prisons, and public institutions of all kinds, slaughter-houses, offal and fat-boiling establishments; all kinds of manures (immensely increasing the value of the latter to every farmer), and wherever poisonous and offensive gases exist. These agents are deodorizers, antiseptics antiputrescents and disinfectants in the scientific meaning of the words. They remove noxious gases and odors by chemical principles—leaving in their places healthful air; they are DESTROYERS, and not merely absorbents of poisonous gases—not injurious to utensils in which they are used.—The attention of medical and scientific men is directed to these disinfectants. Attached are testimonials in favor of this great discovery, which, with hundreds of others can be seen at the Company's office.

DELAVAN HOUSE, ALBANY, March 30, 1866.
To the President of the New York Disinfecting Company:

Dear Sir: It is all it is represented to be. We have made many trials of disinfectants but now consider that we have found an article which surpasses all others as a remedy against all bad odors.

It was the highest honor he had ever received from his brethren, but he knew there were men as able, and who could give more time to the duties of the position. Reports of the committees were read and accepted. The treasury report shows the receipts of the year $170,000, and expenses $171,000. The missionary labors of the society in foreign countries appear so progress steadily.

Thirty-Ninth Congress.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, May 22.

Senate.

Mr. Wilson reported the bill for the equalization of bounties.

Mr Williams introduced a bill to grant lands in aid of the construction of a railroad from Salt Lake City to Columbia. Referred.

The bill in relation to public lands in the Southern States was taken up, providing for the opening to settlement under the Homestead law of these lands in Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana and Florida, at the rate of not over 80 acres to one settler, and the price of the patent to be $5.

Discussion ensued.

A bill was introduced supplementory to the acts relating to the Treasury Department. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

The bill making further provisions for the armory at Rock Island was passed.

The bill amendatory of the postal acts providing among other things that prepaid letters shall be returned free of charge to the writers,—that money orders shall be good for but one year, and that special agents for the collection of money shall give bonds, was passed.

The Senate then went into executive session.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.

On motion of Mr Schenck, the Secretary of the Interior was asked for information in reference to pensions stopped for participation in the rebellion, the amount paid or claimed, the amount necessary to pay arrears, &c.

The bonkrupt bill was considered. Some immaterial amendments were made.

Mr Jencks closed the debate and moved the previous question. It was seconded, when Mr Stevens moved to table the bill. Negatived—49 to 78. The bill then passed—68 to 69.

Mr Elliot, from the Select Committee, reported a bill to continue in force three years the Freedmen's Bureau bill. It went over till to-morrow.

Mr Driggs introduced a bill to punish attorneys and others for withholding monies collected for officers, soldiers and sailors.—Referred.

Mr Rice asked leave to offer a concurrent resolution constituting standing committee and both Houses on public buildings and grounds a joint committee to examine grounds that may be purchased for a new Executive Mansion, and to enquire as to the necessity and expediency of such accommodations for the President.

Mr Farnsworth objected it.

The House went into committee of the whole on the tax bill, commencing at the paragraph imposing tax of two cents per pound on cotton, upon which no tax has been levied.

The paragraph imposing a tax of 5 per ct on all manufacturers not otherwise provided for was on motion of Mr. Spaulding amended by adding the following: Provided further that brown earthern and common grey stone shall be subjected to a tax of 2½ per cent ad valorem and no more.

The paragraph relative to workers in gold and silver was amended by adding a proviso that the stamping proviso shall not apply to the remaining of old gold and silver.

The paragraph about tobacco was amended by adding a new paragraph that on smoking tobacco, sweetened, stemmed or butted shall be laid a tax of 40 cents per pound, and by adding to the words on smoking tobacco of all kinds the words not sweetened nor stemmed nor butted, the tax on this is 20 cents, but was amended by reducing the tax to 10 cents.

The amendment offered on the 10th of May was moved as a substitute for the paragraph relative to cigarettes.

Mr Morrill offered an amendment imposing the same duties on all imported cigars as domestic; providing for inspection valuation and frauds.

Considerable debate ensued, when the following amendment to the amendment was accepted.

On all other cigars four dollars per 1000 and 5 per ct ad valorem, exclusive of the tax, provided that in assessing said ad valorem duty, the first ten dollars valuation shall not be assessed.

Without coming to a vote the House took a recess until evening.

EVENING SESSION.

The cigar and tobacco paragraphs were taken up and discussed.

A vote was taken on the clause amending the bill so that cigarettes, small cigars, cheroots, short cuts, not valued at over eight dollars per thousand, shall be taxed $4: over $12 per M., 40 per cent. ad valorem additional, and resulted in its adoption.

An amendment was adopted to paragraph on banks, providing that sales made by one broker for another, shall not be taxed if a tax had been previously paid.

A substitute was offered for the paragraph amending section 103.

The substitute imposing a tax of 2½ per cent. on railroads, steamboats, canals, &c., on receipts exceeding $1000 per annum—Laid over.

PROGRESS IN ENGLAND. The Providence Journal says: "It is evident that a political crisis is approaching in England, Mr. Gladstone announces that the ministry are about to complete their propositions in favor of Reform by introducing a bill, providing for the redistribution of seats in the House of Commons. As is well known, the representation at present is not according to population. Manchester city with a population of about 360,000 has no more representatives than thetford, with 4200 inhabitants, or Totnes with 4000. Liverpool with 450,000 inhabitants has no more than Leominster with less than 6000 inhabitants, or Honiton with 3300. Those who have favored Reform, have of course labored not alone for the extension of suffrage, but also for a new distribution of seats. But the bill brought forward a few weeks ago, and which passed to a third reading by five majority, provided simply for the extension of suffrage. An attempt was made to defeat it on the ground that a provision for the redistribution of seats should be coupled with it, that it was not manly and statesmanlike to introduce a half-way measure. Those distinguished Whigs, Grosvenor and Stanley, took that ground, and with their friends voted against the bill. Mr. Gladstone now proposes to accommodate them. Had the ministry embodied both measures in one bill at the outset, it would certainly have been defeated. Now it remains to be seen what the men who are represented by Grosvenor and Stanley will do. Are they committed to the support of the two bills by the action they have taken? Or will they show that their expression of desire to combine them was only a pretext for opposing the suffrage bill?—They cannot dodge the question now. They must meet it fairly, and stand by the ministry, or else abandon their claims to Liberalism.

The English ministry have staked their fate on these bills. If they fail, Parliament will be dissolved, and an appeal to the country will be taken. The members of Parliament will be very reluctant to go back to the people and try another contest. The expenses of an election are not trifling in England. It is said that the ordinary expenses of a member, when there is no particularly sharp struggle, are seven or eight thousand dollars. When the contest is severe, the bills are much larger. Now that the members have hardly taken their seats, for which they worked so hard, it is not a pleasant prospect to them to fight the battles over again.—There will be great reluctance to take any step, which shall bring such a necessity upon them."

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

Supreme Judicial Court.

LAW TERM.

Tuesday, May 22.

The Court was opened with prayer by Rev. C. C. Everett of the Union Street Church.

PRESENT.

Appleton, C. J., Cutting, Kent, Dickerson, Barrows and Tapley, Justices.

Attorney General, John A. Peters.

Reporter of Decisions—W. W Virgin.

ENFORCEMENT OF THE LIQUOR LAW.—In accordance with the report of the Committee of the City Council and order of both boards, we understand that the City Marshal will proceed to prosecute all violations of the State law against the sale of intoxicating liquors in this city, and has given notice to dealers accordingly.

ACCIDENT. We regret to state that Mrs. Benj. P. Roberts was knocked down and considerably injured yesterday afternoon, on Main street, by a runaway horse and wagon, started by the band of Shorey & Mowry's Minstrel Troupe passing through the street. The horse dashed on to the sidewalk near Messrs. Alden's drug store, and came upon Mrs. R. before she could escape. She was struck in the side and knocked down with much violence. We have not learned the extent of her injuries.

PERSONAL. Major Fenno, of our city, for the last three years U. S. Paymaster, was among the latest honorably discharged, and arrived home on Friday last. He has won the deserved reputation of a prompt, efficient and faithful officer—his duties having recently called him over a vast extent of country in the Mississippi Valley.

PUBLIC TEMPERANCE MEETING. This (Wednesday) evening there will be a public temperance meeting at the Sons of Temperance Hall, under Pioneer Chapel.

—The concrete for side-walks, mentioned by us yesterday, is being laid down for a short distance only upon State Street hill, and by the owner of the patent for the same—in order that it may be examined by citizens. He proposes to sell rights to make and use the composition.

—The veto of the Colorado Bill is made the special order in the Senate for next Tuesday.

—We are indebted to Hon. Mr. Lynch of the First District for Congressional speeches and documents.

BISHOP BURGESS. The Argus says:—"The interior of St. Stephen's and St. Luke's Churches were arrayed in mourning yesterday in token of grief for the loss of Bishop Burgess. Rev. Mr Dalton briefly eulogized the late Bishop, and announced that he proposed on Sunday next, to preach a sermon on the life and labors of the deceased.

—Rev. Dr. Chapin of New York, is to preach in the Pearl Street Universalist Church, Portland, during the summer vacation of its pastor.

—The widow of the late Henry H. Boody of Portland, left by her will the sum of $14.500 to be devoted to the charitable institutions in that city, $3000 of which is bestowed upon the Masonic Lodges with which her husband was connected.

—A friend at Wilmington, N. C., informs us that a Club has been lately organized there by the Union men for the protection of Union principles, and to give information to northern people going there as regards business prospects, &c.

—The Concord Monitor says the fire which has been raging near Martin's Ferry was extinguished by the rain of Wednesday night, after burning over about 50,000 acres. The fire spread as fast as a man could walk.

—In three instances in Hartford, Conn., recently, the heat of the sun has set oily cotton waste on fire, and a timely discovery has been all that prevented a disastrous conflagration in each case.

An old woman called at a grocer's and asked for a quart of vinegar. It was measured off, and put into her gallon jug. She then asked for another quart to be put into the same vessel. "And why not ask for half a gallon and done with it?" said the grocer. "Oh, bless your little bit of a soul, it's for two persons."

A teamster stopped at an inn to breakfast and having drank a cup of what was given to him, the servant asked, "What will you take, sir, tea or coffee?" "That depends upon circumstances," was the reply; "if what you give me was tea, I want coffee; if it was coffee, I want tea; I want a change."

A gentlemen who has recently been to Winn, Me., informs us that the tannery at that place is doing a splendid business.—Over one hundred men find steady employment, and during the bark or peeling season from 200 to 250 are employed. In their tannery they use an average of twenty cords of hemlock bark per day, the most used by any establishment in New England, and we believe is the largest building used for that purpose, being some 700 feet in length.—[Portland Advertiser.

—General Granger has been sent by the President to East Tennessee. He stated at Bristol that his first order would be to call upon persons who have been warned by the "Loyal League" to leave the State to report the same to him, and he will not only protect them, but punish the leaguers. Excelsior Hair Restorer.

The only one possessing all the merits claimed for it, and the only

Hair Restorer and Hair Dressing Combined.

It restores Grey Hair to its original color. Makes hair grow on bald heads when falling off from disease; removes Scurf, Dandruff, etc.; lays it in; cures sick headache; stops hair from falling off and is all that can be desired for a hair dressing.

It keeps the hair in place much better than any oil or pomatum, and does not soil the finest linen.—It contains no sugar of lead or other mineral so injurious to the hair, and of which most Restorers are composed, but is a purely vegetable compound. It is not a dye, but by supplying the secretions of the capillary glands acts as a Restorer. We challenge the world to produce a single instance where the Restorer has failed when used according to directions. Any one using two bottles of the Restorer

ACCORDING TO DIRECTIONS,

And are not perfectly satisfied with the results will have their money refunded. A single trial will convince the most skeptical of its merits. It is put up in large bottles, and elegantly perfumed, and is easy to applied. Price One Dollar per Bottle.

DR. KNIGHTS'

Oriental Hair Restorer.

After a long series of experiments, this article, as it is now offered to the public, is believed to be the most perfect of its kind which science has ever devised. No pains have been spared to produce what has so long been demanded by thousands, who, from sickness or other causes, have become prematurely grey; and others, who, in the sere and yellow leaf of life, would retain as far as possible the semblance of youth. DR. KNIGHTS' ORIENTAL HAIR RESTORER, after a few applications, restores grey or faded hair to its original color, and is the only preparation of the kind upon which the public can place any reliance. It has never been known to fail in a single instance, and is totally unlike the thousand and one so-called Hair Restorers, by which so many have been egregiously deceived.

It is delightfully perfumed, gives the hair a rich and glossy appearance, promotes its luxuriant growth, and will not soil the skin, scalp, or any article of apparel.

FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers for sale his well known HOMESTEAD, situated in Hampden 2½ miles from this city.—This is one of the finest locations in the State, both for beauty of prospect and profit in farming. The farm contains from 90 to 100 acres, divided into woodland, pasturage, tillage and grass land; is in good condition, and as it has a variety of soil is well adapted to a mixed system of agriculture; and also having some of the earliest land on the River, it is especially fitted for raising early produce, which being so near market is one of the most profitable branches of farming.

This place is one of the few that have never been sold since the original purchase, but circumstances making it expedient, it is now offered for sale.

Chapter I. The Arrest.

'Uncle Joseph, will you see to the luggage?'

'Certainly, madam,' I replied. I always called my brother's second wife 'madam;' we never quarreled, but each thought the other was the most disagreeable person in the universe; and as each knew what the other thought, it may be imagined our intercourse was not of a cordial kind.

I did see to the luggage, and then took tickets for the party for the York express by the Great Northern Railway.

Fortunately we had a compartment to ourselves, that is, Mrs. Webster, my niece Clara and myself.

'Clara, my dear, you look as ill as you can look, no one would think that tomorrow was your wedding day.'

'Do I look ill, mamma?' said Clara dreamily.

'Yes my dear, and wretched too. I wonder you've not more sense at your age, a girl of twenty-five, and breaking her heart for love of a man who for four years has taken not the slightest notice of you.'

'Why, it was one of the conditions, Mrs. Webster, that he should not write, I exclaimed.

Clara said nothing, but looked her thanks at her old uncle.

'However, Uncle Joseph, he ought to have come back and taken his dismissal quietly. I have no patience with these poor men blighting a girl's chance of getting well settled in life in this way: however, thank goodness, it's all over now, the four years are gone this three months, and to-morrow you will be the happy wife of a man whose age will command your respect, and whose position will secure you every comfort.'

'And one, mamma, whom nothing on earth but my solemn promise to my poor dear father would make me call husband.'

'Well, my dear, it's fortunate for your future interests that you made that promise. I'm sure that Mr. Tredgar is a man after my own heart. If I hadn't other views for my children's sake, I should have set my cap at him myself.'

'I'm sure, madam, Mr. Tredgar would feel only too much honored if he knew your sentiments; the candid avowal of them is, I think, highly calculated to add to Clara's happiness under existing circumstances.'

'Well, you know Uncle Joseph, I am candid to a fault.'

'Decidedly madam, most decidedly. I replied, a remark which caused Mrs. Webster to read a yellow-covered novel for some time in silence, though shortly afterwards she dropped asleep.'

Clara stole to my side of the carriage and leaned her head on my shoulder.

'Oh uncle, I wish I were dead; can it be so very wrong to die? I am so wretched, I dread to-morrow; oh! why will not God pity me and take away my life?'

'My dear Clara, don't, that's a good child; it's wicked to talk in this way; life must be borne; I have felt as you feel, and yet I live, and am not positively unhappy; only a vague shadowy regret for what might have been stands like a cloud between me and any happiness that might be mine. Yours are keen sufferings, but bear them patiently, and use will dull the pain.'

'But uncle, why did he not let me hear from him as mamma says?'

'Because he was a man of honor; the four years were up only last April, and this is but July; who can tell where he is? Wherever he is he is faithful and true, I know.'

'Oh! uncle, God bless you for those words. I know it too, but what can I do? I cannot delay longer, my poor father's dying words, my solemn promise to marry this man, my stepmother's persecutions,—what can I do? Three months have I fought, and now I wish I could lay down and die. O uncle, is there no escape? I have such a dread that he will come back after I am married, and then—oh! it would be worse than his death to see him'—the temptation! oh! why cannot I die!'

'Poor child!' my poor child!' was all I could utter.

Bound by a vow made at her father's death-bed, she was going the next day to marry a man who was old enough to be her father, and who but for the fact of his persisting in his claim, spite of her openly expressed dislike of him, was esteemed a very good kind of a man.

True, Clara was beautiful and accomplished beyond the average of women of her class and it would be a struggle to any man to give up such a prize, backed as he was by the assurances of the step mother that it was only a girlish fancy, and that love coming after marriage was more to be trusted; I confess I was a poor counselor under such circumstances, still I loved her very truly; she was almost as my own daughter, for I was a childless widower, and I would have given my life to save her. But it was impossible, and to-morrow would seal her fate.

It was not a pleasant journey, that. Mrs. Webster read and slept at intervals the whole time, and when she slept Clara nestled close to me.

We arrived at York about six o'clock, and just as the train was slackening speed into the station, a guard jumped on to the footboard, locked or unlocked the door, and remained there until the train stopped.

'Have you all your parcels, madam?'

'All, thank you, except my umbrella—oh! that's under the seat,' said Mrs. Webster.

'Now, guard, unlock this door.'

'Are you with that young lady, sir?' pointing to my niece.

'Yes, certainly, unlock the door.'

'Better not make a fuss, sir.'

'Fuss! what do you mean?'

The man, who seemed to be looking out for somebody, now asked, 'All right, sir?'

'All right,' said the station-master, coming to the door, and opening it; this way, miss.'

'What does this mean?'

'Step into my office, I dare say it's all right. Better not say too much about it out here, you know.'

We followed him through the little crowd of passengers and porters, accompanied by a policeman in uniform. As we passed we heard fragmentary observations of a most pleasing kind.

'Which is it?' said one.

'It's the girl, I think.'

'No it's the old woman, she looks as if she would do any one a mischief if it suited her.'

'Old man looks too soft for anything,' and so on.

We went into the office, and I indignantly turned to the station master.

'What is the meaning of this, sir?'

'Oh! it's very simple, sir, a telegram has arrived from the police in London with orders to stop this young lady; here it is.'

I took it, and read:—

'The young lady looking very ill, dressed in black silk mantle, white straw bonnet with white flowers, is to be detained at the station till the arrival of the officer by the afternoon train. She is seated in the middle compartment of the third first-class carriage from the end of the train. Her present name is Clara Webster. To avoid the possibility of mistake, she has a diamond ring on the third finger of the left hand, with the words 'From Herbert' engraved on the inside.

It certainly was a correct description, and the name—there might be two Clara Websters, though.

'Let me see your left hand, my dear.'

She pulled off her glove, and there was the ring.

'Let me see that ring with the diamond on it.'

'Uncle what does this mean? is anything wrong at home?'

'I'll tell you presently, dear; give me the ring.'

She took it off, and gave it to me, and I read 'From Herbert' on the inside

'Why, that's the ring Mr. Langley gave you.'

'What has he to do with this?' said Mrs. Webster. 'Perhaps he—'

'He what, madam?'

'Perhaps it did not belong to him, I was going to say.'

I saw it was no use to struggle; when the officer came down he would explain the mistake.

'Where can we wait?' I said.

'Wait, Uncle Joseph, what for?'

'Madam, this telegram orders the arrest of your daughter, and the detention here until the arrival of an officer from London.'

'But what for?'

'I cannot tell you; it is useless to complain now; we must wait.'

'I shall do nothing of the kind; I shall go at once go and get my brother and Mr. Tredgar to come down.'

'Pray don't madam; there's no occasion to make more noise about this matter than can be helped.'

'I shall remain with Clara; you had better go on and tell them we are coming very shortly.'

'Your instructions don't include this lady or myself?' I asked.

'Not at all sir; you are both at liberty to go, but the young lady must stay.'

'Where?'

'Well, sir, I'm sure there's some mistake and was so from the moment I saw the young lady, so if you'll give me your word that you will not go away, I'll take you into my house out of the bustle of the station.'

'Mrs. Webster went off, and Clara and I went out to the house.

Referring to the annual statement of the Company and the dividend of $2,975,000 declared February 1, 1866, we present herewith some illustrations of the system by which it was allotted to policy holders.

The Company recognizes the principle that AMPLE SECURITY is a paramount consideration in Life Insurance, and neither in form or amount will any dividend be declared incompatible with that principle.

In addition to the proper reserve for re-insurance of outstanding risks, there still remains an undivided surplus of $1,200,000

DIVIDENDS will be declared annually hereafter, and may be used either to purchase more insurance, in reduction of premiums, or on "paid up" policies, they may be drawn in CASH on the date of each policy in any year.

EXAMPLES,

Showing the Annually Increasing Dividends in this Company on Life Policies of $10,000 each, other amounts in same proportion.

*The annual dividends on these policies exceed the annual premiums So that a policy holder, by applying his dividends to the payment of future premiums, not only avoids all further outlay, but his policy annually increases in amount.

The dividends on policies of a more recent date, including those issued last year, may be applied in like manner to the full extent of their accumulations.

Insurers who do not thus apply their dividends have the full benefit of the large additions to their policies, as shown in the above table, and may, at any future period use such portions of their dividends in the payment of any one or more premiums, as they may desire.

☞ It will be noticed as a peculiarity of our system, that while the dividends are moderate at the beginning, as all dividends must be which are declared upon just and equitable principles, yet they rapidly increase each year as the policy grows older, so that eventually the insurance becomes paid up in full.

Endowment Policies,

Payable either at death or to the persons insured, on their arriving at specified ages.

This favorite form of insurance or investment is of a more recent date, and the following examples will suffice to show their results thus far in the MUTUAL LIFE:

Number of Policy.	When issued.	Age at Issue.	Amnt	Term.	Premium	Prem. how paid.	Total Premium.	Dividend	Amon't paid.
17,949	Mar. 11, 1858	42	$6000	Pay at 50	$622 87	A.	$4,982 26	$1,602 59	$6602 59
18,826	Jan. 14, 1857	51	5000	" 60	263 41	S. A.	4,987 97	1,637 01	6634 01
18,905	July 1, "	47	2000	" 55	129 09	S. A.	2,065 44	662 80	2662 80
153	Feb. 20, "	36	5000	" 45	541 80	A.	4,871 70	1,711 97	6711 97

All of the above policies have been paid to the owners, and it will be seen that they receive a SURPLUS above all they have paid to the Company, with compound interest at six per cent., and no charge whatever for expenses or cost of insurance meanwhile.

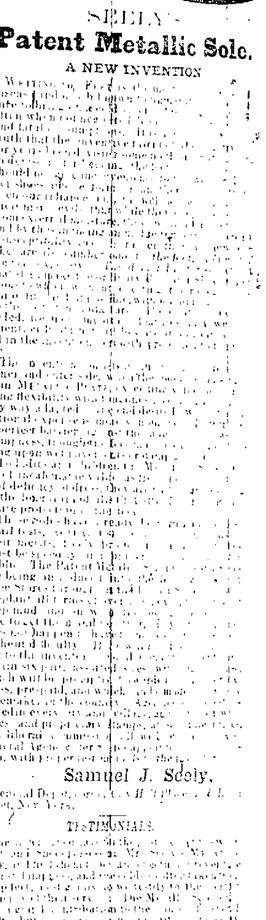
Patent Metallic Sole.

A NEW INVENTION



TESTIMONIALS.

SAMUEL J. SEELY, Esq.:

Dear Sir—In reply to your request, I have worn your Patent Metallic Soles. I commenced by stating that I had thoroughly tested a pair of skin boots, which I wore through in the ball of the wet streets of Augusta. I have had them resoled since, and am wearing them at the present time. I now, with full intention of re-soling them, as I have not had a wet or damp foot since I have worn them. I regret to say that the skin soles of the boots I have worn since having once worn them will not admit of re-soling. Wishing you the success you deserve for such an invention for the preservation of the feet,

I remain truly yours,
SAMUEL JEFFERSON,
Contractor for Mail Service.

MR. SAMUEL J. SEELY

Dear Sir—I take great pleasure in giving my testimony to the usefulness and value of your Patent Metallic Sole. I have used them myself for the past seven months, furnished my family, and feel no hesitation in saying that I have never worn shoes that combined so perfectly the necessary qualities of dryness and durability.

S. J. SEELY, Esq.:

Dear Sir—In answer to your request, I am happy to state that I have manufactured shoes with your Metallic Sole by machinery. I think it a superior article for keeping the feet dry. In manufacturing them there is no trouble from the thread when sewing, nor any difficulty in setting them in the shoe. Respectfully yours,
